“ I think it's necessary to expose children to the arts

so that they know there is more out there than just what goes on in their community. I also think it's important for them to know they can become actors if they wish to pursue a career in acting.”

“The production by the associate actors was powerful.

If you can see this play, you will be inspired by their performance and the message of this play. I highly recommend seeing it if you can.”
